HOME-MADE CROP INSURANCE

There is one form of dependable crop insurance with the reach of the man whose corn prospects have been swept away by the chinch bugs—and that is a catch crop of soybeans. This legume will do well when planted even in midsummer and will resist drought. It is proof against chinch bugs and will produce a good crop of hay equal to alfalfa in its high-protein feeding value. This is the sort of crop insurance, according to C. E. Carter of the Missouri college of agriculture, that can be taken out on the field after the loss of the original crop has occurred. It comes at small cost, moreover, and can be collected without the aid of a lawyer.

Mrs. Elory Zimmerman and two children of Malden are visiting at the home of her father-in-law, J. H. Zimmerman, near Marble Hill. Mr. Zimmerman came up with them Sunday and returned that day.

YOUNG MEN OFFERED TRAINING AT CAMP PIKE

The one month's free vacation offered by the government is attracting the attention of the young men of Missouri. Congress has made an appropriation to train 400 Missourians at Camp Pike, Arkansas, during the month of August. At the completion of the vacation the students are returned to their homes without making any obligations for further military service. Application blanks for enlistment at Camp Pike can be had by writing the Citizens' Military Training Camps association of Missouri with parent offices at the Chamber of Commerce, St. Louis, Mo. The purpose of the establishment of summer camps is to bring together young men of all types, born native and foreign born to develop national and social unity, to teach the privileges, duties and responsibilities of American citizenship. To show the public by actual example that camp instruction of the kind contemplated will be to the liking of their sons, that it will develop them physically, mentally and morally, and will teach Americanism in its true sense.

In the past, each citizen attending training camps did so at his own expense. The cost, while not large, barred many who were desirous of attending. The present law makes the Citizens' Military Training Camps part of a national system of training for the national defense. Therefore the new law provides also that the government pay all expenses of conducting the camps, furnishing uniforms and equipment, food and living accommodations, also medical and emergency dental treatment.

Citizens attending camps will be under no obligation other than strict attention to instructions and observance of regulations during the training period.

The greatest response to the announcement of the opening of these camps will naturally be from young men. Clergymen, educators, and others, who realize the benefits these young men will receive, may render a patriotic service to their country by encouraging young men to attend the camps.

Applications will be considered of any Missourian between the ages of 16 and 35. While it is known that many who apply for enlistment this summer cannot be accepted, yet an over-subscription of applicants will insure a larger appropriation from congress for the summer camps of 1922.

Former County Judge James P. Limbaugh of near Scopus was in Marble Hill last Saturday, mixing with friends and acquaintances and remembered the printer with a welcome visit and had us mark up the subscription of his daughter, Mrs. M. Powell, a year.

will own up, saying, "I suffer because I deserve it. I have no will power and my moral principles are flabby, which is because I have never disciplined myself."

This would not be so bad, and the self-justification of criminals is of small social consequence but unfortunately there is a large number of mistaken sentimentalists who elevate this whine to the level of a philosophy.

They have an idea that it is circumstance that makes the criminal. This notion appeared in a recent statement by Judge Landis that a young man, who worked in a bank and stole was not so guilty as his employers who paid him too small a wage.

Plenty of money never cured a thief, decent surroundings never made a natural born liar honest, a good wife, or several good wives, as in Turkey, never healed an adulterous scoundrel of his licentiousness; and fame and place never took the envy out of a mean nature.

Character and crime can be estimated in dollars and cents, not virtue be put on a cash basis.

You may think you would be good and generous if you had a million dollars. But you would then be precisely as you are now or worse.

Not even happiness, nor that cheerfulness which Stevenson says "comes before morality and is the first virtue" depends on how rich or prosperous or healthy you are. It is all from within.

This but few believe, but it is as true as the law of gravitation. None the less, we go on, believing in externals, striving for simple facts of the spirit by externals.

Yet an undisciplined, self pitying soul would be wretched in Heaven, and the upright soul would not sleep even in Hell. Morley Banner

WON ON THE FOURTH TRIAL

First is an admirable quality in human character; last is accomplished most when coupled with correct methods. For four successive years M. H. Whitener, a St. Louis surgeon tried to make alfalfa grow on his farm on the same field. After the third failure he asked the Missouri college of agriculture for aid, and was successful. "I am glad to report," he writes to Wm. A. Miller of the seeds department, "that out of your instructions I have a beautiful stand of alfalfa as a result of timing and insulation."

Presiding Elder O. H. Duggins of Farmington was in Marble Hill last Friday and Saturday, the guest of Rev. J. R. Kincaid and family.

RAN CAR IN CREEK

A Tanner and a Mr. McCarty, the owner of a brand new Ford, accompanied by a Mr. Brown and a barber named Merritt, all of Chaffee, started to Jackson to them. Mr. Tanner was teaching collect some fines that were due Mr. McCarty to drive on the crooked road along the road from Chaffee to Dutchtown and from there to Jackson.

About one fourth mile from Dutchtown as they rounded a dangerous curve, the car came from Jackson.

Just his head was in the creek, going into about 8 feet of water. Only the back of the car showed above the water, with the assistance of a farmer and "old Beek and Jude", block and tackle and a lot of men the car was brought to the bank, towed in to the garage and it was found that the front axle was in a perfect hole, the seat cushions lost in the creek, as were all the tools and the top of the car all smashed in. The machine was overhauled and new dry coil put in and as they pushed on the starter the little Ford rumbled right along, even the minus all the trimmings. Mr. Merritt is confined to his home at Chaffee with a badly sprained thigh, the others all escaped with no injury except to their pocketbooks. Jackson Cash-Book.

Cleve Shrum, age 70 years, died Tuesday May 31, at his home near Miller chapel after an illness of several months. He had a severe attack of influenza a year or more ago which left his lungs in a bad condition and later developed into pneumonia which caused his death. He leaves a wife and three small children, father, mother, sister and brothers. The body was taken by train to Glen Allen, his home place and buried there Wednesday evening.
